

PRESS RELEASE

Interchange in Hungary has started to offer advance online booking of currency.

Budapest, 27th January, 2017: The pilot Interchange online calculator in the Czech Republic has been running successfully since the summer of 2016, and now Hungary has launched this useful online service as well.

The new online tool enables customers to book their currency online and then collect it at Interchange branches in downtown Budapest and across the countryside.

Making an order through the online calculator is a simple and straightforward process, plus it offers customers transparent and competitive exchange rates that are updated daily, as well as the ability to book their currency in advance of their travel both out of and into Hungary.

Talking about the new online calculator, Krisztian Janvari, the Country Manager of Interchange in Hungary said:

‘Following the launch of our new and modern website last year, we are delighted to be able to please our customers again with another online upgrade, this time letting them enjoy the benefits of very competitive online rates and 0% commission on all online bookings made through our website.’
